FROM FARM TO TABLE

One of the most serious problems in the country is getting the produce of the farm to the table of the consumer. Leaving aside the cost of production of that food, it becomes cheaper or dearer to the consumer in direct proportion to the cost of transportation. One way at least, in lowering this cost is good roads.
The "short haul" plays a very important role in the cost of the things we eat. Motor transportation is making this short haul quicker and cheaper. The economy thus effected depends largely on the kinds of roads over which the motor vehicle must travel. In a community served by good roads, the farmer is able to get his produce to the city quickly and at a less cost than the farmer who is forced to make his trip over bad roads.

Our system of distribution is one of the reasons of high cost.
Good highways, cheapen distribution costs and help shorten the distance between the country and the city. The Government experts have figured that the farmers spend $300,000,000 each year in marketing their products. It cannot be expected that the farmers will stand this loss without making it up to some extent at least, in the prices of things they sell.

France wants Germany disarm-ed and wants Uncle Sam to help do it. Having failed to disarm the Germans when they had the opportunity, they would now do it when they are impotent. Opportunity, once spurned, does not intrude itself a second time.
Nothing doing for us.

They say it takes nine tailors to make a man. But woman, of course, is so perfect no tailoring is required.

It is possible, even now, to work up a good old fashioned ripping jag. Imagination makes a bully substitute.
